7	: Any Other Business	We are pleased to share some important news about how our practices work together. Until recently, our practices were part of Chiltern Hills Primary Care Network (PCN). Following careful planning, we have now formed our own network — Trident PCN — bringing together Eastgate Surgery, Kingsbury Court Surgery and Kirby Road Surgery. This change allows us to focus resources and services more directly on the needs of our local patient population, with closer working between our three practices and greater local decision-making. Patients do not need to do anything — your care and how you access your practice remain unchanged. As part of this new chapter, we will shortly be introducing a PCN-wide Patient Participation Group , giving patients from all three practices a shared voice in shaping services across the network. We will share details on how to get involved very soon, and we warmly encourage members of our practice PPGs to take part.
